Overview

Project Circuit is a comprehensive electronics circuit board manufacturer assembly located in Southern California. Established by its current owner, the company has been in continuous operation since its founding, dedicated to delivering quality finished products crafted in the USA. Circuit collaborates closely with its customers, offering assistance in parts and material procurement when necessary, ensuring the final product meets perfection.

They produce circuit boards utilized in advanced equipment across various sectors, including infrared technologies, blind-spot detection tech, proprietary medical devices, and earth moving equipment control boards, among others. The owners are looking to sell the property along with the business.
